

Andrew Wall

October 16, 2017

Andrew “Drew” Loyd Wall, 40, of Chesapeake, VA died suddenly of a heart attack on October 16th, 2017. He is survived by his parents, Jim & Kim Wall; wife Emily; sons Andy & Ronnie; daughter Caitlyn; brothers Adam (wife Terri) & Zachary (Rebecca); and a host of nieces & nephews.

Drew was an amazing husband, father, friend, musician, & worshipper. Although we are grieving over never getting another opportunity to hear his biblical wisdom, play a great worship set, give hugs and kisses to his children, or share in game nights or late-night video raids, we have complete faith & trust in where he is now.

From an early age, Drew was passionate about the life of every individual. In lieu of flowers, donations may be made to the Crisis Pregnancy Center of Tidewater.

Public visitation will be held on Friday, October 20th, 6:30-8:00pm and a celebration of his life on Saturday, October 21st, 10am both at Community Church, 1935 Jolliff Rd, Chesapeake, VA 23321.

Private burial services will be held at a later date. In lieu of flowers, donations may be made to the Crisis Pregnancy Center of Tidewater 4224 Portsmouth Blvd, Portsmouth, VA 23701.

“ Dear Wall Family; Richard and I were so shocked to hear about Andy. We are lifting all of you up in prayer, may you have the peace of knowing that Andy is with Jesus. It's all of us, here on earth, left behind, who need prayer and the comfort of the Holy Spirit.

Kim and Jim.....we know you have that "pain of losing a child" that only our GOD in heaven knows when he had to turn away from Jesus on the cross. May the peace of Jesus surround you and the Holy Spirit lift you.

Your former neighbors, Richard and Debbie Cupp, Redfern Lane.

“ Andy (as i knew him) had a deep love and sensitive heart for others at a young age. I will share a sweet memory. When he was in high school playing basketball, one of his teammates fell on the court and was hurt. Before anyone could get to him, Andy raced onto the court and wrapped his arms around his friend to comfort him. Everyone in the stands on both teams was deeply touched. What a tremendous testimony! I pray God will comfort and bless you ALL. All my love, Joan

“ To Adam & Zach: I have not been separated by death from my siblings so I don't pretend to fully understand the special pain that you two are feeling. Please know that so, so many people who met you all nearly 3 decades ago remember you three fondly and will hold you all in our prayers for your comfort. To Jim: I remember well your sermons as they regarded your sons and the joys and troubles that come with parenting. Those sermons had an impact. I hope you remember that your Andy did "come home" and that was in response to the most sincere prayers that only a parent can offer. You have done well by your children. To Kim: I dreamed of you in the early hours of Monday and found myself hugging you and crying in each others arms. I didn't know why at the time. Now I understand. Your Andy always spoke well of you, never once making teenage wisecracks about "his mom". He dearly cherished you and you will hold him again. To Emily: We have never met. I know of you only thru mutual friends. However, I do know what it is to bury a husband. Most of the time the grief is overwhelming so much so that physical pain enters your head and jaw and chest. Everyone handles this pain differently and at different speeds. You will find your speed and your way. Please, please remember that this separation is so very temporary and because you two gave your lives to Jesus you will be reunited. Now, to Andy & Ronnie & Caitlyn: You do not know me. We will probably never meet in this lifetime. Know this. Your dad was a good guy. He was a fun-loving kid, he ate a lot of pizza at the youth group gatherings, he made lots of people (his peers and the older bunch) laugh and feel good about life His legacy will live on and on thru your mom, and grandma and grandpa and uncles and cousins, and, especially through each other as siblings. When you get older and start to forget his voice or how he looked you just ask any of those people who love you all dearly about your Dad. They know all the stories and will tell those stories to you over and over again. Then, at the appointed time, your Dad will tell you those same stories with his special Daddy twists when you see him again in Heaven. Your Dad is okay now and you all will be okay too.
