“ Feeling so deeply can be both wonderful as well as painful. An alternative is “not caring”. Ally CARED about those she knew and loved in addition to those she never met. Caring, strong convictions, and feeling deeply are what defined her. Ally’s family and friends helped her natural instincts to love and care about the world she lived in. Ally’s energy will live on in her family, friends, and the world she touched.

“ Rex was and always will be my best friend. I think of Klista and Aidan as my own family. This picture is from Sov's birthday party. After we had finished setting up, I was trying to take pictures and Rex popped into the frame. Rex's smile was always a shining light and it shows in this picture. I love and miss her so much. Lots of love.
