I miss my parents, Charles E. and Betty Miller. It is hard to believe that father and mother have been in heaven this long. Nancy and I just have each other now, and I do miss the old family times we once had. At least, we will one day be all reunited in the Father's House (John: 14:1-4

“ It still hurts after all these years. I know you and Daddy are happy now; however, life is not easy here. In this world, Nancy and I have just each other, Mama. You were wrong about the rest of the family, for we never hear from them. I am tired now; therefore, I must go. I will see you and daddy one day in God's glorious kingdom.

“ Help me to end my grieving. The pain is so great that I can hardly live with it. I know she is in a better place than I am; however, the pain continues. I ask Jesus to bless the souls of Charles and Betty Miller. May he also bless their bodies as they wait for resurrection day.

“ I know I will not be able to talk to you and daddy again until I go to heaven to be with you. I always could talk to you both. The emotional pain just will not stop. I wish Nancy and I could have children to give you grandchildren. I am sorry.

“ This is my last entry for you, my beloved mother. Things are not easy for me here on earth. My pain does not cease; I still miss our talks and visits. In the name of Jesus Christ, my God bless your soul in heaven and body on earth and reunite them on the day of resurrection. Mother, do not forget me as I continue my journey on earth.
