Tribute Wall

“ Mrs. Julian was a good and gentle Christian lady. She is now, of course, in a better place - and that place is itself even better from her presence.

Folks seek evidence of a person's measure by witnessing that person's children. This is especially valid for a woman of Mrs. Julian's place and time. And well she meets the measure. Having met her only a few times, I best know Mrs. Julian from the testaments of her fine sons, Michael and John. I know that my friends, and their dear sisters, will keep and hold close to Mrs. Julian's spirit.

My prayers are offered to Mrs. Julian, her family and her friends, at this time of transition. God bless.##imported-begin##Neil Bonner##imported-end##
