“ Before your shadow loses itself in the sunset of eternity make sure that you live your life here to the fullest. Don?t worry so much about your aging body that for a brief time carries your soul. Focus instead on the things that go on forever. The love you can give, the joy you can spread, the good you can do, and the oneness with God you can share with others. Thanks Jack for being my friend all these years and for all the special memories. You will be greatly missed.##imported-begin##James Maute##imported-end##
