“ Sending love and prayers from the Trower family to all in the Tarr family. For so long our families were intertwined. Even when I first moved out on my own, I had your mom on speed dial for when I could not reach my own. I remember much of her advice but the one that stuck in my head was dealing with leftovers- "When in doubt throw it out" Your mother was an amazing woman that I admired in so many ways. I know heaven will not be as quiet now as I know her, and my mom have found a cloud and have been playing catch up ever since she arrived. Those two could spend hours together and then still chat for hours on the phone. Their friendship in younger years was one of a kind. Hugs to you all.
Love,
Rhonda Trower
