April 9, 2020

Joyce Ann English, 89, went to be with the Lord and the love of her life, her husband of 72 years Carleton English on April 9th. Born in Portsmouth, she was predeceased by her parents Manley and Hattie Mantlo, and a sister Gloria Latham. Joyce worked for the Portsmouth Gas Company for 36 years and retired in 1994. She was a member of the former Western Branch Baptist Church. Joyce enjoyed decorating her house for all occasions and working in the yard at her Castle Heights home.

Left to cherish her memory are her son David English and his wife Pam; grandchildren Alec Carleton English, Krystine Smith and her husband Chris Collins, several family and friends as well as her dog Sophie.

All services at this time will be private. A celebration of life will be held after the COVID-19 pandemic subsides. In lieu of flowers, the family request donations in Joyce's name to the Alzheimer's Association at www.alz.org

“ To David and Pam,

I am so privileged to have worked with Joyce at Portsmouth Gas Co. I will cherish the memories of our lunches together even after our working careers ended and also my last visit with her at home. She and Carleton were a beautiful example of love and extended it to me and my family. Every time we got together she would ask about my dad, husband and children. Every year she sent me a birthday card and he taught me how to say hello in Japanese. Every time we saw one another that was our greeting! They attended by father's 70th birthday celebration much to his delight. These acts of love and kindness meant the world to me. They were such an awesome couple! I will miss them dearly.
