“ We want to say how sad we are and to let the family know they are in our prayers. My wife and I worked with Robbie on the PPD. Robbie sense of humor and laughter, will be missed. He loved his family and always talked about them. He was a great dispatcher and looked out for officer safety. His laugh was one of a kind just like him. God Bless his family through this difficult time.

“ We first met Robbie at his marriage to our old friend Bunny Fitzpatrick and couldn't mistake that his good humor was intact, despite ill health he'd been facing. That occasion offered much optimism that two people deserving of happiness had found it in each other. And so the story of Robbie's challenging last months seems another instance of "unfairness" that life can show. Surely Robbie will be sadly missed by family, friends, and untold folks who've crossed his path. But look close and see that, in all his trials and pain, Robbie kept his sense of humor and his relish for life, and thereby leads us by example to live each day as it comes and to take up the little joys each day may offer.##imported-begin##Jon Guillot & Marva Barnett##imported-end##
