“ Scott was man who would do anything for anyone. He would give you the shirt off his back in the freezing snow if you needed it. His life was his two children. They are all he talked about. Now that he is home with God he will ALWAYS be able to watch over and protect Amber and Austin which is all he ever wanted out of life. Bless you Scott. You will finally be happy again.

“ You are finally free from all the hurt now Scott. You were truly a great friend and a loving Father. We shared lots of laughs and tears together. It was to soon for you to leave this world but obviously God has bigger and better plans for you. I will miss you dearly and will always remember the good times we shared.

“ God bless you, Scott! I was so glad we had the chance to get reacquainted at his father's memorial a few years ago, since our high school days so many years ago. I remember his kids, Austin and Amber, who came to church with their aunt, whom Scott raised well and loved dearly. My heartfelt condolences and prayers go out to the family. I look forward to seeing Scott again in Heaven.

“ My heart felt thoughts to the family and friends of Scott Masters. Scott was a long time buddy and I'm very sad at the news of his passing. I believe Robert E Lee once said to celebrate the life for our loved ones have gone to a better place. God bless you all and may Scott rest. He will be missed.

“ Shared homeroom with him in 7th and 8th grade. We used to laugh about him being Masters in LeMaster's class. Sounds odd now, but back then that made us laugh.
