Tribute Wall

“ Mrs. Ansell,
I knew you many years ago when I was in 6th grade at Hodges Manor Elementary. I have thought of you often and wondered if you were ok. I am truly sorry to hear of your loss. I lost a baby boy to crib death years back and I know the loss is hard, but take comfort Mr. Ansell is with the Lord and there is no better place to be.
Hugs Always,

“ Dear Ms. Ansell,
I'm so sorry to learn of the death of your husband, but now you have the relief of knowing he is at peace. In some small way, I understand the constant anxiety you have been living with. Mom died last week after a 5 month battle with ovarian cancer - she was Daddy's caregiver - he has the beginnings of dementia. I know how it feels when that stress is lifted and you know your prayer that they be spared any further suffering is finally answered. Please know that you have been in my thoughts since we talked and you will continue to be in my prayers. Hope to chat with you again soon.
Love, Joyce###imported-begin###Joyce Thacker###imported-end##
