“ To Bill's family, please accept my sincere condolences for your loss. Bill and I worked closely together for about 10 years in the Virginia Chemicals engineering department. We frequently traveled to the plants, and spent many long hours working together during startups. Bill was a genuinely good person, and always showed great respect for others as he sought the ideas and input from everyone involved. In more recent years, Bill arranged several reunions of the VCI engineers, and we all enjoyed reminiscing about our past experiences.

The world would be a better place if more of us were more like Bill Smith, but in my life I think he was a unique and gentle man. I shall always miss him.
